Version: 1.0

Welcome to PeerVia

You applied because you want to help the next generation make better decisions about their future. This document tells you exactly how to do that as a PeerVia Ambassador — what you need to do, how the platform works, what is expected of you, and what the rules are. Please read it fully before your profile goes live.

Section 1 — What PeerVia Is

PeerVia is a peer mentorship platform that connects high school students with university students who are already studying the subjects, attending the universities, and pursuing the careers those students are considering. The core idea is simple: the most honest and useful guidance a high schooler can get comes not from a careers counsellor or a university brochure, but from someone who is actually living that experience right now.

PeerVia is a non-profit organisation. There is no money involved on either side. Ambassadors volunteer their time to help students who genuinely need it. Students use the platform completely free of charge.

As an Ambassador, you are the platform. Your profile, your answers, and your calls are what PeerVia offers to high schoolers. The quality, honesty, and professionalism of your contribution directly determines how valuable PeerVia is to the students who use it.

PeerVia Website: peervia.org

Contact Email: info.peervia@gmail.com

This is the only official contact email for PeerVia. All communication with PeerVia must go through this address.

Section 2 — How the Platform Works

Understanding how PeerVia works from end to end will help you fulfil your role effectively. Here is the complete process from application to active mentorship.

2.1 The Application and Approval Process

1	You apply through the website You submit your Ambassador application at peervia.org . Your application includes your university, year of study, programme, and a short description of your area of expertise and motivation for joining.
2	PeerVia reviews your application The PeerVia team reviews every application manually. We check that the information is accurate, that the applicant meets our standards, and that they are the right fit for the platform. You will be contacted at the email address you provided.
3	Your profile goes live Once approved, your public Ambassador profile is published on peervia.org . High school students can browse profiles and find you based on your university, course, and career path.
4	A student finds your profile A high school student who is interested in your course, university, or career path discovers your profile. They can read your bio and see your areas of expertise before deciding to reach out.
5	The student fills out a request form If a student wants to speak with you, they fill out a short form on your profile listing the topics they want to discuss. This helps you prepare and ensures the conversation stays focused and useful.
6	You respond and confirm You receive a notification and reply to the student — either confirming a time that works for you or suggesting an alternative. You arrange the call together. All calls take place online only.
7	The call takes place You have a 25–30 minute online call with the student. You answer their questions honestly, share your genuine experience, and help them understand what the career or course is really like.

2.2 Public Q&A

In addition to one-on-one calls, PeerVia features a public Q&A feed where high school students can post questions about specific courses, universities, or careers. When a student posts a question that is relevant to your profile — your course, university, or career area — you will receive an email notification at the address registered on your account.

We ask that you do your best to respond to relevant public questions within one to two weeks of receiving the notification. Your answers are visible to all users of the platform, which means a single well-written answer can help not just the student who asked it, but every student who reads it afterwards.

2.3 Your Public Calendar (Optional)

Ambassadors have the option to set up a public availability calendar on their profile. This allows high school students to see when you are available for an online chat and book a time directly, without needing to go back and forth over availability. This is optional but strongly encouraged, as it makes it significantly easier for students to connect with you and increases your impact on the platform.

Section 3 — Time Commitment

PeerVia is designed to fit around your university schedule. We do not expect a large or fixed time commitment. The typical Ambassador spends between 30 minutes and 1 hour every two to four weeks on PeerVia-related activity.

Average time commitment

30 minutes to 1 hour

every 2 to 4 weeks

This includes answering public questions on the Q&A feed and having the occasional short call with a high school student. There is no minimum number of calls you must complete per month. However, we do expect Ambassadors to remain active on the platform and to respond to notifications within a reasonable timeframe.

3.1 Breaks and Availability

- If you are going through exams, a particularly busy period, or need to take a break for any reason, you can temporarily close your profile to new requests.
- If you plan to be unavailable for more than three consecutive weeks, please notify PeerVia at info.peervia@gmail.com so we can update your profile status accordingly.
- Prolonged inactivity — defined as not responding to any notifications or requests for more than six weeks without prior notice — may result in your profile being temporarily deactivated.

Section 4 — What You Must Always Do

The following are the core obligations of every PeerVia Ambassador. These are not optional guidelines — they are the minimum standard required to hold an active profile on the platform.

4.1 Be Honest

Honesty is the single most important thing you bring to PeerVia. Students use this platform because they want the truth — not what the university website says, not what they think they should want to hear, but what it is actually like.

- Always give accurate, genuine, and balanced information based on your real experience.
- Never exaggerate the positives of your course, university, or career path.
- Never downplay serious challenges, high workloads, competitive job markets, or salary realities that a student genuinely needs to know.
- If you do not know the answer to a question — say so clearly. It is always better to say "I don't know" than to guess or provide inaccurate information.
- If something is your personal opinion or experience, present it as such. Do not state opinions as universal facts.

4.2 Be Responsive

- Respond to session requests from students within a reasonable timeframe — ideally within 5 to 7 days of receiving the notification.
- Respond to public Q&A notifications within one to two weeks where possible.
- If you cannot attend a confirmed call, cancel with at least 24 hours notice and offer an alternative time.
- If you are going through a busy period and cannot respond promptly, update your availability status on your profile or notify PeerVia at info.peervia@gmail.com.

4.3 Keep Your Profile Accurate

- Your profile must accurately reflect your current university, year of study, and programme at all times.
- If any of these details change — for example, if you change course or transfer university — you must update your profile or notify PeerVia promptly.
- Your profile photo must be a clear, recognisable photo of yourself. Group photos, avatars, or heavily filtered images are not acceptable.
- Your bio must be written in your own words and must accurately describe your background, experience, and what you can help students with.

4.4 Prepare for Calls

- Before each call, review the topics the student listed in their request form so you are ready to address them.
- Be on time. If you are more than five minutes late to a confirmed call without prior notice, the student is entitled to reschedule at a time of their choosing.
- Calls should last the agreed duration — typically 25 to 30 minutes — unless the student ends it earlier.
- If you promised to share any resources, links, or information during the call, follow up with these within 24 hours.

4.5 Stay Within Your Platform

- All contact with students must take place through the PeerVia platform or through the channels arranged via the platform.
- All calls must take place online. Video calls, voice calls, and any other remote communication are all acceptable. In-person meetings are not permitted without prior written authorisation from PeerVia — see Section 5 for full details.
- If a student contacts you directly through social media, email, or any other channel outside of PeerVia, do not engage in mentorship activity through that channel. Direct them back to the platform.

Section 5 — The Rules

The following rules are mandatory and non-negotiable. Every Ambassador must read, understand, and follow them in full. Breaching any of these rules may result in consequences including permanent removal from the platform.

5.1 Rule 1 — All Meetings Must Be Online

All calls and meetings with high school students must take place online only.

Physical, in-person meetings between an Ambassador and a high school student are strictly prohibited unless you have first contacted PeerVia at info.peervia@gmail.com and received clear written acknowledgment from PeerVia that the meeting may proceed.

Any in-person meeting that takes place without PeerVia's prior written acknowledgment is entirely the personal responsibility of the Ambassador. PeerVia accepts no responsibility whatsoever for anything that occurs at or in connection with such a meeting, and the Ambassador will be permanently and immediately banned from the platform.

5.2 Rule 2 — All Services Are Free

PeerVia is a non-profit platform. All mentorship provided through PeerVia is completely and unconditionally free.

- You may not request, accept, or solicit any form of payment — in money or otherwise — from any high school student you interact with through PeerVia.
- You may not offer paid services, tutoring, or consultancy to any student you meet through the platform.
- You may not promote your own business, side projects, external services, or social media accounts to students during or in connection with PeerVia calls.
- Any Ambassador found to have solicited or accepted payment from a student will be permanently removed from the platform without exception.

5.3 Rule 3 — Calls Must Stay On Topic

The sole purpose of PeerVia calls is to provide honest, helpful career and academic guidance to high school students. Every call must remain focused on this purpose.

- Calls must not be used for personal networking, recruitment, promotion, or any other purpose beyond genuine mentorship.
- You must not ask students for personal favours, referrals, or any form of engagement outside of the platform.
- Calls must not be used to share, promote, or discuss any political, religious, or ideological views.
- If a student steers a call in an inappropriate direction, you are expected to redirect it or, if necessary, end the call and report the incident to info.peervia@gmail.com.

5.4 Rule 4 — Information Must Be Accurate

- Every piece of information you share — whether in a written answer or during a call — must be accurate and honest to the best of your knowledge.

- If you are unsure about something, say so clearly. Never guess, speculate, or present uncertain information as fact.
- Never fabricate statistics, salary figures, acceptance rates, or any other factual claim.
- If you later realise that something you said was inaccurate, update your written answer on the platform or notify the student as soon as possible.

5.5 Rule 5 — Conduct Must Be Professional and Respectful

- You must treat every high school student with respect, patience, and courtesy at all times, regardless of the nature of their questions.
- You must never use offensive, inappropriate, or discriminatory language in any interaction with a student.
- You must never make any student feel embarrassed, judged, or unwelcome for asking any question.
- You must never share, discuss, or make reference to any personal information a student has shared with you, outside of the context of the call.
- If a student discloses personal distress, mental health difficulties, or a crisis situation, do not attempt to counsel them yourself. Express care, encourage them to speak to a trusted adult or professional, and notify PeerVia at info.peervia@gmail.com.

5.6 Rule 6 — No Contact Outside the Platform

- You must not solicit or collect personal contact information from students — including phone numbers, personal email addresses, or social media handles — outside of what is provided through the PeerVia platform.
- You must not continue contact with a student through unofficial channels after a call has ended, unless the student has explicitly initiated contact and the nature of the communication remains appropriate and mentorship-focused.
- Under no circumstances should any Ambassador develop a personal or romantic relationship with any student through or in connection with PeerVia.

5.7 Rule 7 — Calls Must Not Be Recorded

- You must not record any call with a student — whether by audio, video, screenshot, or any other method — without the student's explicit prior consent.
- If a student asks to record the call, you may consent at your own discretion, but you are not obligated to agree.
- Unauthorised recording of a call is a serious violation and may constitute a criminal offence depending on the applicable jurisdiction.

5.8 Rule 8 — Confidentiality

- Any personal information shared by a student during a call or in a request form — including their school, location, grades, personal circumstances, or concerns — must be treated as strictly confidential.
- You must not share, discuss, or reproduce any student's personal information with any third party under any circumstances.
- You must not share any internal PeerVia communications, processes, or information with any third party without the explicit written consent of PeerVia.

Section 6 — Consequences for Breaching the Rules

PeerVia takes breaches of these rules seriously. The consequences depend on the severity of the violation and will be applied consistently and without exception.

6.1 Minor Violations

Minor violations — such as a late response, a profile that is out of date, or a single instance of below-standard conduct — will result in a written notice from PeerVia. The Ambassador will be given the opportunity to address the issue. If the issue is resolved, no further action will be taken.

6.2 Serious Violations

Serious violations — including repeated minor violations, providing inaccurate information, contacting students outside the platform, or using PeerVia for personal gain — will result in the immediate suspension of your profile. Reinstatement requires a written commitment to compliance and is at PeerVia's sole discretion.

6.3 Permanent Ban

The following violations will result in immediate and permanent removal from PeerVia with no right of appeal:

- Soliciting or accepting payment from any student.
- An in-person meeting with a student that was not pre-authorised by PeerVia in writing.
- Sharing, distributing, or misusing any student's personal data.
- Any form of harassment, abuse, or inappropriate conduct directed at a student.
- Misrepresenting your qualifications, university, or identity on the platform.
- Any conduct that places a student's safety or wellbeing at risk.

Referral to Law Enforcement

In cases involving conduct that PeerVia considers to be highly unethical or potentially criminal — including but not limited to the exploitation or endangerment of any student — PeerVia reserves the right to contact the relevant law enforcement authorities. PeerVia will cooperate fully with any investigation.

Section 7 — Responsibility and Liability

It is important that every Ambassador understands clearly where responsibility lies.

7.1 Your Personal Responsibility

- You are solely and fully responsible for everything you say, do, or share in your capacity as a PeerVia Ambassador — including during calls, in written answers, and in any communication connected to the platform.
- You are solely responsible for ensuring that all information you provide is accurate and appropriate.
- You are solely responsible for your own physical, mental, and financial wellbeing in connection with your Ambassador activities.
- You are solely responsible for complying with all applicable laws in your jurisdiction, including data protection and privacy law.

7.2 PeerVia Is Not Responsible For

- PeerVia is not responsible for the actions, conduct, or statements of any high school student.
- PeerVia is not responsible for anything that happens to an Ambassador — physically, professionally, financially, or otherwise — in connection with their participation in the platform.
- PeerVia is not responsible for the outcome of any advice given by an Ambassador, or for any decision made by a student based on that advice.
- PeerVia is not responsible for anything that occurs outside of the official PeerVia platform, including any meeting, communication, or arrangement made independently between an Ambassador and a student.
- PeerVia is not responsible for any technical failure, platform outage, or loss of data.

Important Reminder

By accepting the Ambassador role and having your profile published on PeerVia, you confirm that you have read and understood this document in full, and that you accept personal responsibility for your conduct and contributions as described above.

Section 8 — What You Get as an Ambassador

PeerVia is a voluntary role, but it is not without its benefits. Here is what you gain from being a PeerVia Ambassador.

8.1 Verified Ambassador Certificate

Every active Ambassador receives a PeerVia Verified Ambassador Certificate. This is a formal certificate that confirms your mentorship activity — including the number of students you have helped and the sessions you have completed. It is something you can add to your LinkedIn profile, CV, and university applications.

8.2 Public Answer Portfolio

Every written answer you publish on the Q&A feed becomes part of your public profile. Over time, this builds into a visible portfolio that demonstrates your expertise, communication skills, and commitment to helping others. Employers, universities, and graduate programmes consistently value demonstrated mentorship experience.

8.3 The PeerVia Ambassador Network

As a verified Ambassador, you become part of PeerVia's growing community of university students across multiple countries and institutions. This network gives you access to connections, conversations, and opportunities with other ambitious students who share your commitment to doing something meaningful with their time.

8.4 Purpose

You were once a high school student who had questions about what the future looked like. PeerVia gives you the chance to be the person you wished had existed when you were in that position — someone real, honest, and helpful who told you the truth about what was ahead. That matters. The students who speak with you will not forget it.
